The Tweed News
The Tweed News entered its eleventh year of existence last week and celebrated the fact by printing its edition on a full Colossal Ad.
This is the largest newspaper in the county, necessitating the dredging of a hand-press.
This jobber yard has made prominent the news of the world, and has been during the Virginian era, and the changes wrought in the News since its present energetic proprietor, Mr. H. Ward, has been here. The paper is well known throughout the town, but it has a weekly paper that would merit a place three times its size. We recommend it to our readers. We have made of his newspaper venture, and trust his partners will appreciate his enterprise.

their fraternal sympathy, and kind assis-

A Doctor's Opinion.
A man, named Daniel, in connection with the trial at Napace of the convict Hughes, alleged to be the accomplice of Trey, the murderer of Angus McLeod, says that the murderer was there for the purpose of killing, and none for aquittal. He was one of the three who thought the convict guilty, and says that he has not the slightest doubt but that the man who committed the crime, according to him, was Hughes, was telling the truth. The self-confessed murderer told a startling story. Hughes, the juror said, would not have been found guilty unless he had confessed his guilt, as his personal appearance and demeanor are against him; when Penn, the third man who it is alleged was in the plot, was examined, he was found to be a fair sample of the finest field of grain he ever saw.

George VanLoon, of Kingston, says he has a whole field of rye, that will average nine acres, and will yield seven feet one inch to length.

Mr. Edward Embury, of Hay Bay, has a field of rye that averages 9 feet long.

Mr. C. W. Peck, of Peterborough, has a sample of it which measured eight feet. His rye is a fair sample of the finest field of grain he ever saw.

George VanLoon, of Kingston,
average nine feet.

Mr. Henry Wilson, Amherst Island, Ont., has a sample of his rye, which measures 8 feet in height.

The Napace can produce rye as well as tall men, and they are hard to put.

Mr. W. M. Fox, of Orono, left us samples of his rye, which is 8 feet 2 inches. He has now got a field of it.
